

SAYS YANKEE DOCTORS ARE WORLD'S BEST

"American doctors trained since World War I are the best in the world," Dr. M. C. Stayer, head of tuberculosis control for Pennsylvania, who recently retired as major general from the U. S. Army after serving as chief medical officer for the Army of Occupation in Germany, told members of the Adams county Medical Society Wednesday evening at a meeting in the Hotel Gettysburg.

The former Army medical officer who served since 1908 in the medical corps in various parts of the world and who in World War II was chief medical officer in the Mediterranean theater before heading the Army's medical services in Germany, added that "American training is superior to any I have seen anywhere although that is not to say that there are not good men in Europe, because there are; and there are some ideas in Europe that we could do well to adopt here."

Elect Officers
The talk by General Stayer followed a brief business session and dinner at which Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, surgeon at the Warner hospital, was elected president of the county association; Dr. John J. Knox was elected vice president and Dr. Raymond M. Hale was named secretary-treasurer. The nominating committee included Drs. Raymond P. Sheely, William E. Flickinger and D. B. Coover. In addition to the county society members doctors from York, Harrisburg, Hanover, Waynesboro, Emmitsburg, Westminster, Taneytown, and Mont Alto were present.

General Stayer began his talk with a tribute to General George C. Marshall, recently named secretary of state, to whom Stayer was personal physician for 20 years. "I think the American government is very fortunate in its selection of the Uniontown Army officer," General Stayer said, "his background, idealism, courage and experience for the post are superior to that of anyone else in the U. S." Asserting that "you can only call General Marshall an American," the former army officer added that "after 20 years of knowing General Marshall I still do not know whether he is a Republican or a Democrat."

"The skill of Justin Andrews as chief sanitary engineer for the army in Africa, the use of atabrine and DDT held malaria to a minimum while the army was in Africa," General Stayer told the doctors. While his experience as head medical officer in Panama prior to World War II had led him to consider quinine as the principal thing to use for malaria, atabrine, which was developed by the Germans, proved equally good, the former army officer declared. Fleets of planes were used to dust with DDT and swampy spots were drained in the battle against malaria in Africa. At first the soldiers blamed atabrine for some ailments which were actually caused by the conditions under which they lived, Dr. Stayer added. An educational program soon showed the error of that belief, he added, and afterwards there was no difficulty.

"Psychiatry was greatly advanced during the early stages of the war and proved very valuable in handling of psychoneurotic cases," he added.

Yanks Curbed Typhus
He paid tribute to Pope Pius XII with whom he had an audience in Rome. "While I am not a Catholic," he told the doctors, "I believe the Pope is trying to do a good job for the benefit of the world."

"While Germany is in exceedingly great chaos, medical control measures worked very well in regards to typhus, usually the greatest plague following any war. One of the worries of medical officers when the prisoners of Dachau were released without proper safeguards against typhus was that the prisoners would prove centers of infection throughout Europe. But there were only two secondary cases, the control was that good," the speaker said. "DDT stations set up throughout Europe were credited with doing most to stop the spread of typhus by lice carriers. The Russians obtained good results by following the old custom of 'steaming' prisoners and others to kill lice."

In regards to tuberculosis in Europe, the former major general said it was his belief that the Germans and Italians had better sanitariums than any in the U. S.

Better Training Here
He described one sanitarium at Naples where 2,000 patients could be treated at a time. The Italians placed their sanitariums in cities, Dr. Stayer said, adding that he felt that was a good idea "because then the sanitariums have the advantage of the latest in science and equipment and facilities."

"European methods of teaching medicine in general do not compare with ours here," he said.

"Sure we're busy—who wouldn't be with Texas roofing in demand. Try our prompt service repair. Citizens Oil Company."

FIREMEN ORDER NEW EQUIPMENT

As a further step in building up its fire-fighting equipment, the Gettysburg fire company voted Wednesday night, at its regular meeting in the engine house, to purchase three fog nozzles and two carbon dioxide extinguishers. The purchase was recommended by the committee named to investigate equipment with which to fight gasoline fires.

Two of the fog nozzles will be of the inch and a half size, and one will be a two and a half inch nozzle. Edward Culp, chairman of the committee, explained that this equipment was the newest devised to fight gasoline fires. He said that the carbon dioxide extinguishers were harmless to property and evaporated a short time after use. Both the fog nozzles for water and the CO₂ extinguishers smother the fires, he said.

Littlestown WAYNE ARNOLD REELECTED BY ALPHA FIREMEN

Wayne C. Arnold was reelected president of the Alpha fire company, Littlestown, at the monthly meeting Tuesday evening. Other officers named were: Vice president, Kenneth Sparver; secretary, Harry W. Badders; treasurer, James U. Bowlers; fire chief, Jay D. Basehoar; pipe foreman, Carroll Oaster; chief nozzelman, Luther Hankey; janitor and truck foreman, Robert Koontz; trustee for five years, Ralph Staley. The secretary was instructed to cast the ballot, following the withdrawal of P. Emory Weaver as a candidate for trustee, leaving no contests.

Add 37 Members
Thirty-seven men were elected to membership, in line with the new by-laws which increased the maximum from 200 to 300. The new members are: Fred Sentez, Earl Smith, Charles B. Mummert, Robert J. Myers, N. Harry Wolf, Melvin J. Schlicht, Kenneth T. Eyer, Paul L. Hollinger, Theron J. Basehoar, Jr., Dennis S. Wallick, Harold R. Krichen, Sterling J. Wisotzkey, Warren H. Wisotzkey, Homer J. Yingling, Ralph M. Conover, Ellis B. Rohrbaugh, G. Alvin Maitland, John R. Frazier, John C. Noble, Jr., Jacob R. Adams, Lowell Ruggles, Clement A. Sneeringer, Paul R. Snyder, George W. Cool, Fred Harner, Dennis E. Hoff, Christian Mohr, James Shomper, Lloyd R. Baker, Levi Hull, E. Paul Bigelow, George W. Streib. (Please turn to Page 2)

ROBT. DURBORAW DIES OF STROKE

Robert Durboraw, 166 York street, died this afternoon at his home from the effects of a stroke.

Mr. Durboraw was a farmer in Cumberland township for many years.

He was steward at the county home for about three years until he was forced to resign because of his health several years ago.

In addition to his widow he is survived by four children, Mrs. Norman Shriver, near Emmitsburg; Mrs. Cameron Hoffman, Arendtsville; Addison, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Grace Stall, York; six grandchildren; three brothers, William, Carlisle street; Addison, Malvern, and Newton, Media, and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Lowe, California, and Mrs. Minnie Woestmyer, Houston, Texas.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BULLETINS

Seranton, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Federal Judge Alger Fee today postponed for 24 hours hearing of motions to quash charges of conspiracy against former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson and four others.

Judge Fee had ordered the hearing postponed indefinitely upon being advised that Johnson and a son, serving as an army captain in the Philippines, would be unable to attend. However, 30 minutes later in a surprise move, he directed all defendants be in court at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Stocks generally displayed modest upward leaning in today's market although exceptions were plentiful. Dealings slowed after a fairly active start. (Please turn to Page 2)

RESIGNS POST AS HOSPITAL SUPERVISOR

Mrs. Mary Black Kepner, superintendent of the Annie M. Warner hospital for the past three years, has resigned her position effective February 10. Mrs. Kepner will move to Lancaster where she will join her husband, who has become affiliated with the War Department at the army depot at Marietta.

Mrs. Kepner's resignation was accepted with regret by the board of directors of the hospital at a special meeting held Wednesday afternoon. The board adopted resolutions thanking Mrs. Kepner for her services as superintendent and her previous service on the nursing staff.

President C. A. Bixler said after the meeting that the board had made no decision as to a successor to Mrs. Kepner.

Mrs. Kepner is a native of Adams county. She was graduated from Gettysburg high school and the Washington county hospital, Hagerstown, and for a period of about ten years, prior to becoming superintendent of the hospital, was supervisor of the operating room at the local institution.

Eastern Star Fetes 14 Past Matrons

Fourteen past matrons of the Eastern Star were honored Wednesday evening at a meeting of the organization at the IOOF home.

Mrs. Ray J. Kitzmiller, worthy matron, greeted the past matrons and the officers of the chapter conducted a ceremony at which gifts were presented to each of the 14 past matrons. They included Mrs. W. Preston Hull, Mrs. G. R. Thompson, Mrs. Charles M. Sheely, Mrs. Ross Myers, Mrs. Ernest Zeigler, Mrs. Clyde Daley, Mrs. Elizabeth Hennig, Mrs. John Bower, Mrs. Carl Martz, Mrs. Wilbur Plank, Mrs. Anna Heintzelman, Mrs. Charles Kuhn, Mrs. John Sheffer and Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefeaver.

McSherrystown To Have VFW Post

Steps are being taken to organize a McSherrystown post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A preliminary meeting was held recently in the fire engine house, at which time the following were elected to serve as temporary officers: Commander, Wilbur J. Staub; vice commander, Paul Reese; junior vice commander, Charles Doll; quartermaster, Charles A. Smith; chaplain, Edward Kefler; trustees, Robert Hartlaub, Earl Staub and George Reese, and adjutant, Donald J. Brady. A membership drive is being conducted by a committee composed of all the members. The next meeting will be held January 14 at 8 p. m. in the McSherrystown engine house.

Driver Pays Fine After Hearing

Vernon Waldo Hill, 211 North Stratton street, arrested at 6 p. m. Monday on a charge of following another motor vehicle too closely, paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder following a hearing Wednesday afternoon.

Hill, driving a truck owned by the Cumber-Moore company of Wilmington, N. C., ran into the rear of a car owned by Donald C. Reel, 250 Buford avenue, according to borough police, who filed the charge. Damage to Reel's car amounted to $35, police said.

Union Service In UB Church Tonight

This evening's Week of Prayer service will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the Evangelical United Brethren church on West High street with the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Christ Lutheran pastor, as the preacher.

The Presbyterian church was well filled Wednesday evening for the fourth Week of Prayer service at which the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Trinity Evangelical and Reformed pastor, delivered the sermon. The offering for the Gettysburg Civic Nursing association amounted to $25.81.

Collect Paper In 5 Towns Saturday

Boy Scouts from the Mummastown area will collect scrap paper in Mummastown, Biglerville, Cash-town, McKnightstown and Seven Stars on Saturday.

Scouts will canvass the entire area and householders and others are asked to have their paper tied into bundles or placed in receptacles and deposited in front of their homes for easy pickup. Those wishing to have the scouts collect the paper from sheds or basements are asked to telephone Mark Johns' store at Mummastown before Saturday.

William L. Meals Reelected By Bar

WILLIAM L. MEALS

Attorney William L. Meals was reelected president of the Adams County Bar association at its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon in the law library at the court house.

Other officers were also re-elected. Eugene V. Bulleit was re-named president and District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., as secretary-treasurer.

The president appointed a committee, composed of Richard A. Brown, Eugene V. Bulleit and Donald P. McPherson, to arrange for a bar association dinner to be held January 23. The place has not been determined. There will be no program of speaking, Mr. Meals said.

JAIL COUNTAIN ON GUN CHARGE

Richard Currens, 26, Orrtanna, was placed in the Adams county jail Wednesday evening in default of $1,000 bail to appear for court after pleading guilty to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon without a permit.

The information was laid before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder by Sgt. W. Kurt Duhrkoff, of the Pennsylvania State Police, Wednesday after Currens had been disarmed Tuesday afternoon when he appeared on property of the Orrtanna Canning company with the loaded revolver, the sergeant said. Melvin Herrings, Cashtown, and Peter McDannell, Biglerville R. D., were said by the sergeant to have taken the revolver from Currens after they learned he had it on his person.

A number of other arrests were also reported today by state police. Irvin Foster Morris, Abell, Md., paid a fine of $10 and costs before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehoar on a charge of speeding at 70 miles per hour.

John S. Fogle, Littlestown R. 1, has been charged before Justice of the Peace W. D. Brown, Straban township, by state police with driving without an operator's license.

William O. Randall, Hanover, has been charged by state police before Justice Snyder with disobeying traffic signals.

DEER ON FIELD

Gettysburg's National Military park, noted for its supply of wild animal life, is becoming even more of a game preserve. H. Wayne Weagly of the National Park staff here, saw six deer leaping the fence at the Pennsylvania Monument this morning while enroute to work from his home, the Weikert House, on the battlefield.

Newspaper Advertisements 51 Years Ago Show Sale Of Men's Wool Suits For $6.50

Fifty-one years ago, and thirty-three years after the Battle of Gettysburg, there appeared a weekly newspaper called "The Battlefield." Its publisher was A. P. Seilhamer. While its life was relatively short, during its existence it sought, through its pictures and articles on the battlefield, to be national, as well as local in scope.

A copy of the June 27, 1896 issue, now the property of Andrew Larson of Gettysburg, reveals how well "The Battlefield" sought to carry out its avowed mission. The eight-page newspaper is replete with not only battlefield news, but stories of the monuments, and pictures of the statues of General John Buford, General James Gordon Meade and General Winfield Scott Hancock, as well as a group picture of the descendants of General Meade. The "pictures" are actually drawings, or engravings, rather than reproduced photographs.

"The Battlefield" was not averse to "blowing its own horn" and in so doing it also blew vigorously on Gettysburg's horn, particularly the battlefield. A story which was given the prominent position at the top center of the page one declares: "The bicycle circuits at Gettysburg—the finest boulevards in the world—better than those of London, Paris and New York."

"Suitable for Bicycle Suits" This was shortly before the turn of the century, when bicycling was at its zenith. A large advertisement of the G. W. Weaver and Son dry goods store lists dress goods stock and says: "much of it is suitable for bicycle suits."

Permits Needed For Farm Trucks

State police here today reminded county farmers that permits are needed to drive farm trucks from one field to other parts of the same farm via public highways.

The policeman said they had observed that a number of farmers, who have trucks they employ only on their own farms and which thus do not have to have registration plates, are driving to other fields without a permit.

While farmers have the right to drive the "farm use only" trucks from one field to another via public roads without registration plates, they must have a permit granting them permission for traveling from one specified field to another over a certain road, otherwise they are liable to arrest for driving without a permit.

The permits may be obtained, police say, by filling out application blanks available at any justice of the peace office. The permits are issued by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

LANDSCAPING HISTORY TOLD TO CLUB WOMEN

The development of landscaping dates as far back as the hanging gardens of Babylon, Charles B. Tilton, Floradale, told members of the Woman's club of Gettysburg, at the regular January meeting Wednesday afternoon in the YWCA.

In the United States, fundamentals of the industry can be traced from the 1850's, to Andrew Jackson Downing, in Newburg, N. Y., who, in addition to writings on plants and nursery products, was the author of "Landscape Gardening" which is still used as an authority, Mr. Tilton said.

Central Park, in New York city, stemmed from Downing's interest in city parks, the speaker said. "The style of architecture most predominant in this country was English," Mr. Tilton said, "because in the middle 1800's the people were passing through a period of revolt against Italian and French styles of formality."

Autos Boomed Efforts
"After the automobiles made their appearance architects were called upon to help with plans for new cities and the re-building of old towns, which accelerated landscape gardening."

Mr. Tilton cited phases of the landscaping business, such as arboretums, the most famous of which he said was the Arnold arboretum at Harvard university; school buildings and campuses, playgrounds, out-door theatres, factories, large public buildings and homes.

"The campus at Gettysburg college is a very fine architectural style," the speaker said. He described the campus at State College as formal, yet modern and naturalistic in style. He spoke of the value of a shade tree commission in a community to see that trees are kept in orderly fashion and free from disease, and praised the efforts of garden clubs and their activities.

There are between 5,000 and 6,000 landscape architects in the United States, Mr. Tilton said. At the present time 460 are employed by the federal government, 350 in national parks, 45 in government hospital work, 15 in the Farm Security administration and 50 in miscellaneous federal jobs.

PAY SCHEDULE ATTRACTIVE IN NATIONAL GUARD

There's gold in those National Guard uniforms.

That, in substance, was the tenor of an announcement made today by Capt. Robert L. Scott, Gettysburg R. 2, provisional commanding officer of the new National Guard troop being recruited here, concerning the pay scale proposed for the guard.

Quoting an Army Times dispatch Scott reported that even the lowest private will receive $157.50 per year for his 15 days field training each summer and his presence at weekly drill nights.

Day's Pay For Drill
According to the Army Times schedule, the private would receive $120 for the army drills and $37.50 for his two weeks in camp as base pay. As the pay follows regular army schedules, giving a full day's pay for each two-hour drill, the National Guardsman would receive extra pay for length of service.

A master or first sergeant will receive a total of $346 for his year's work, divided between $264 for army drills and $82 for field training. The technical sergeants will be paid $216 for army drills and $67.50 for field training, a total of $283.50.

Pay Schedule
Put in table form, the pay schedule as it would affect the local guard unit looks like this:

	Army Drills	Field Training
Master or 1st Sgt.	$264.00	$82.00
Technical Sergeant	216.00	67.50
Staff Sgt. or T/3	183.84	57.45
Sergeant or T/4	159.84	49.95
Corporal or T/5	144.00	45.00
Private, 1st class	128.16	40.05
Private	120.00	37.50
Captain	368.16	115.05
1st Lt.	320.16	100.05
2nd Lt.	288.00	90.00

Former Guardsman

Captain Scott, who served as first sergeant of the local National Guard unit when it was called to active duty in 1941, was with ordnance throughout the war. In England he served as automotive maintenance officer for the Transportation Division of the Third Air Depot and returned to the U. S. with the 432nd Air Service group in June, 1945.

A recruiting drive is scheduled to swing into full tempo next week with the local officials staging drives in every community in this section.

Other reserve officers assisting Captain Scott in the organization of Troop A of the 104th Armored Cavalry which is scheduled to be located here include Lt. John Dear-dorff of Biglerville; Lt. Clayton D. Warman, Lt. William G. Weaver, New Oxford and Lt. Allen A. Larsen, Seminary Ridge. Staff Sergeant Samuel T. Kessel is another World War II veteran assisting in the organization drive.

LOCAL HOTELS RETAIN RATES

Gettysburg hotels will not increase the rate of rooms to transients although rent controls will be officially lifted February 15.

Henry M. Scharf, manager of the Hotel Gettysburg with the largest number of rooms available to transient guests in town, said that he would not change his rate schedule despite the lifting of the control order. Similar announcements came from George F. Eberhart of the Hotel Eberhart, Wayne M. Keet of the James Gettys hotel and A. V. Knox of the Battlefield hotel.

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Truman's appeal for extension of rent control beyond June 30 collapsed in the Senate today with a bill to junk the whole program February 1.

Democratic Senator O'Daniel of Texas sponsored the legislation to eliminate controls and Republicans Wherry (Neb.), Moore (Okla.) and Bushfield (S.D.), lined up in support of his proposal. Several other Senators said controls should continue but that landlords should be permitted to increase rents as much as 15 per cent.

Spurred by a decision of the office of temporary controls to eliminate ceilings on transient rooms February 15, organized real estate representatives renewed their demands that rentals of houses and apartments also be freed.

"There is not a single reason for motor courts and hotels to get de-control that doesn't apply to apartment owners," Herbert U. Nelson, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, declared in an interview.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Frank Kuykendall, Fountaindale, who underwent a major operation December 28 at the Washington County hospital, Hagerstown, has returned to her home. She is able to be about her home.

Seek Volunteers For Fire School

The Gettysburg fire company will hold a fire school in the near future, but before arrangements can be completed more men are needed to sign up for the course of instruction, Philip M. Jones, chairman of the committee, reported at the January meeting of the company Wednesday night in the engine house. He appealed for more enrollees.

At least 40 members must sign up for the school before an instructor will be assigned by the state Department of Public Instruction, Jones said. He asked that members of the fire company who have not signed up telephone him at 316 after 5 p. m. The school will be held one night a week for 18 weeks, on either Tuesday or Monday nights. Tuesday night was first choice of the firemen.

CORONER HELD SEVEN INQUESTS IN COUNTY IN '46

Seven inquests held in Adams county by Dr. C. G. Crist, coroner, during 1946 cost the county $352.64, in addition to coroner fees and mileage of $336.90, a check of the records in the county commissioners' office shows.

Members of coroner's juries received $2 and mileage. Witnesses were paid $1 plus mileage and the coroner received $5.50 for viewing each body, plus ten cents a mile travel expenses.

Inquests were held in the following cases:

Dorothy Hankey, Fairfield, who died January 31 as the result of being struck by an automobile.

Ruth Fitez and Ruth Kump, Emmitsburg, who met death February 2 in an automobile accident.

Robert Spahr, John Kuhn, Joseph Slonaker and Russell Bumbaugh, who died as the result of an automobile accident on Lincolnway East February 7.

Most Are Auto Victims
Mrs. William Sanders, Gettysburg, R. 5, who died of a gunshot wound suffered when a rifle in the hands of Robert L. Heyser was discharged accidentally.

Jacob Miller, who died after being struck by an automobile operated by Mrs. Jennie Stambaugh, Hanover, on the Lincoln highway August 10.

Sydney Poppay, Jr., Seminary avenue, fatally injured when he fell from the truck of Harry Stauffer, East Middle street, while returning from picking fruit near Arendtsville.

John Jacob Rex, Aspers, fatally injured when struck by the automobile of Robert Bupp, Aspers, December 17.

BREEDON TAKEN TO TENNESSEE

Knoxville, Tenn., police arrived here this morning and left shortly before noon with William A. Breedon, alias John Robert Nelson, wanted in Knoxville for grand larceny. Charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest were noted proessed Monday in court here. The Knoxville police said Breedon was also wanted by the army as a deserter, Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said.

Officers who came here for Breedon were A. R. Settlemire, sergeant of detectives, and Detective T. R. Ailor. They said that Breedon had twice deserted the army, was wanted on the larceny charge and was believed by Knoxville police to be implicated in other thefts and housebreakings in Tennessee. He was also wanted by the FBI on a false registration charge, they said.

S. Sgt. Norman Groft On Terminal Leave

S/Sgt. Norman Charles Groft, 141 West Middle street, arrived at his home last Saturday from Paris, France, and is now on terminal leave until February 3.

He entered the service 18 months ago and during his 12 months overseas was stationed in a number of the European countries. He served with a military police outfit.

Son Of Former Pastor Dies Jan. 4

Word has been received by M. F. Shuff of the death on January 4 of Russell Johnson of Iowa. Mr. Johnson's father was the late Rev. E. S. Johnson who was pastor of Elias Lutheran church in Emmitsburg for 22 years until 1888. The deceased is survived by his wife who is a sister of Mrs. Charles G. Hoffman of Emmitsburg; also by a sister, Carrie, and a brother, Robert, near Cumberland, Md., and a brother, Elwood, of Altoona.

Funeral services Sunday at 1:30 p. m. from the Routsong-Dugan funeral home, Benegarsville, conducted by the Rev. R. L. Lundy. Interment in the Idaville cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

FIREMEN WILL RESUME OWN KIDS' PARTIES

The Gettysburg fire company voted, at its meeting at the engine house Wednesday night, to hold its own "Kiddie Christmas Party" this year, instead of joining with other local organizations in a community affair, as was done in 1946.

"This is not a community affair, it is our affair," declared President James B. Aumen, in bringing the matter to the attention of the meeting. "We have no objection whatever to what other organizations may do, that is their affair, but the Kiddies Christmas party is ours," he said.

"It was originated by the firemen, and it belongs to them," Aumen continued. "For many years we held this party for the kiddies every year, until the war. We were forced to give it up during the war years because of the difficulty in obtaining candy. We should go back to holding our own party now."

Plan Spring Banquet
The meeting adopted unanimously a motion by Secretary Raymond E. Menges that the fire company return to the custom of holding a party for the kiddies every Christmas.

Menges also suggested that a banquet for members of the fire company and their wives or friends be held sometime in the spring. A motion to this effect, made by Raymond Bisbing, was adopted, and President Aumen appointed a committee to arrange such a banquet, the committee to be composed of Menges, Richard Cole and Mervin Crouse.

The treasurer's report, given by Treasurer Joseph E. Codori, showed a balance in the treasury of $16,790.66. The report showed receipts last year in the general fund of $5,036.18. Expenditures were $7,061.90. The company has $9,000 in government bonds in the general fund, the report showed, and a cash balance from the previous year.

Six Seek Membership
The relief fund showed receipts during the year of $1,377.48, and expenditures of $225. The Christmas party fund has a balance of $558.32. Donations during the year totalled $212.50. Balances in the three funds were reported as: General fund, $14,123.09; relief, $2,109.25; Christmas party, $558.32.

The name of Earl Forry was dropped from the membership rolls at Mr. Forry's request. Six new applications for membership were read by the secretary, and referred to an investigating committee, composed of Edward Culp, Mervin Crouse and Francis Stevens.

The company voted $15 to the infantile paralysis fund campaign. Last year the firemen gave $15. Fire Chief James A. Aumen announced that there would be a meeting of the officers, chief and assistant chiefs next Tuesday night at 7 p. m. at the engine house to go over the membership rolls and to make driver, nozzlemen and other designations.

Following the meeting the new iron lung donated by the Moose lodge was set up and demonstrated. A new box for carrying it on the service truck has been obtained.

MRS. ARNOLD EXPIRES AT 92

Mrs. Mary Catharine Arnold, 92, widow of Aaron Arnold, died at her home at Biglerville this morning at 5 o'clock from a complication of diseases. She had been bedfast four days.

The deceased was born and always resided in Adams county, a daughter of the late George W. and Julia (Speilman) Spertzel. Her husband died in 1906. She was a member of the Idaville Evangelical church.

Surviving are six children, William, Biglerville; George, York; Mrs. Harry Hunt, Gardners R. D.; Mrs. W. S. Adams, Gettysburg; Rudolph, Biglerville; Mrs. Harry Balmer, Collingdale, Pa.; 21 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Galloway, Gardners R. D.

Funeral services Sunday at 1:30 p. m. from the Routsong-Dugan funeral home, Benegarsville, conducted by the Rev. R. L. Lundy. Interment in the Idaville cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

SECOND FEVER CASE

SET DATE FOR HEARINGS ON LABOR LAWS

Washington, Jan. 9 (P)—Senate and House leaders today set January 20 as the "outside" date to start hearings on proposed new labor laws.

The labor committee of one or the other chamber may go into action before then. But there is a chance they may launch together—a week from Monday—one of the biggest double features billed on Capitol Hill in many a year.

The idea at both ends of the Capitol is the same—to turn out some kind of a bill that will tighten the screws a bit on labor unions and discourage strikes that paralyze business.

Dozens of Bills

Dozens of labor bills already have been introduced by individual lawmakers. Rep. Case (R-SD) planned to outline a new strike control measure today expected to be fully as far reaching, and perhaps more restrictive, than the one he backed last year. It was killed by a presidential veto.

In the Senate, Senator Ball (R-Minn.) put forward a new measure to outlaw the closed shop. It would make illegal all provisions in any present or future contract requiring a person to be a union member to get or hold a job.

Chairman Hartley (R-NJ) of the House Labor Committee said he plans, after talks with House Republican leaders, to introduce a labor bill of his own as the basis for the House hearings.

LANDSCAPING

courses, one of the finest being at Penn State, he said.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Dwight F. Putman, chairman of the conservation and gardens committee. Mrs. Russell A. Campbell, vice president of the club, presided. Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefeauver led the devotion, and, pledge to the flag. Mrs. C. H. Heit, chairman of welfare, reported progress with the milk project and praised the assistance of the officials of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage company. All pupils in the public and parochial schools here receive a half pint of milk once each day, in the morning, she said. Each child who is able pays two cents a day but no child is denied milk if there are no pennies.

Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, in charge of publicity for the Hans Brinker show Friday announced that clubwomen are in charge of the sale of tickets in the schools. Mrs. Howard S. Fox for the High street school and Miss Howard's kindergarten; Mrs. Wilbur Plank, Meade school; Mrs. Harold Pegg, Lincoln school, and Mrs. Robert Derck, St. Francis Xavier school.

Ask Doctor To Speak

The club will ask Dr. Raymond Hale to speak to it and conduct a discussion on the Sister Kenny treatment. The club endorsed nominees for offices in the state federation. Mrs. J. Stewart Williams, Kingston, president; Mrs. Paul Bodwell, York, treasurer, and Mrs. James Muffy, secretary.

A tea following the meeting, with these hostesses: Mrs. E. F. Strausbaugh, Mrs. C. C. Culp, Mrs. Edgar L. Deardorff, Mrs. C. W. Epley, Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh, Mrs. John Klinefelter, Mrs. Wilbur Plank and Mrs. Paul D. Thomas. The next meeting will be held February 12 in charge of the education, radio and motion picture committee.

Engagement

Hess-Ebersole

The engagement of Miss Sara Elizabeth Ebersole, York, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Ebersole, East Berlin R. 1, to Robert Edwin Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hess, York R. 1, was made known by her parents recently.

Miss Ebersole was a member of the class of 1945 of the East Berlin high school where she was an outstanding vocalist. She studied later at the Joyce Art School of Beauty Culture, York, and has had a position at a beauty salon in that city.

Her fiancé, a graduate of the West York high school in 1943, entered the submarine division of the U. S. Navy shortly after graduation and served three years. He is now studying at the York Collegiate Institute. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

Weddings

Lovall-Goyt

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Edwards Goyt, daughter of Mrs. Alta B. Goyt, Shippenburg, to James L. Lovall, son of Mrs. Mary L. Lovall, Wayne.

The ceremony took place in Memorial Lutheran church, Shippenburg, December 22 at 4 p. m.

The bride, a graduate of Shippenburg State Teachers' college in 1946, is teacher of history and English at Fairfield high school.

Mr. Lovall is attending Shippenburg State Teachers' college. He served three and one-half years with the navy and spent part of that time in the south Pacific and on Okinawa.

Divel-Ramsey

Miss Helen Ramsey, daughter of Mrs. May Miller, McConnellsburg, was recently married to Ellis E. Divel, a son of Harry L. Divel, East Berlin R. 1, in a single ring ceremony performed at the parsonage of St. Paul's Methodist church, Hagersown, Md., by the Rev. H. C. Marsh.

The bride's dress was a street length model of aqua, and she wore black accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

The couple was attended by Clarence A. Deardorff and Jacob Bender, both of Chambersburg.

The newlyweds will make their home in Chambersburg, in which section the Divel family resided before going to East Berlin about three years ago.

DEATH

Mrs. W. E. McCaffrey

Mrs. Bessie May McCaffrey, 68, widow of William E. McCaffrey, died Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sterling Miller, Spring Mills, following an extended illness. She was a daughter of the late Albert and Mary Feiser Schaeffer and leaves the following children: William E., Jr., Parsons, Kansas; Miss M. SWIFT SENATE APPROVAL FOR NEW SECRETARY

By ALEX. H. SINGLETON

Washington, Jan. 9 (P)—The dominantly Republican Congress put the world on notice today that American foreign policy has the same united backing in peace as it had in war.

The chorus of Senate unanimity with which Gen. George C. Marshall won his sensational swift confirmation as successor to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes demonstrated not only Congressional confidence in his ability, but also solidified bi-partisan agreement on the necessity for an unbroken foreign policy.

The support for Marshall, bridging party differences, apparently rested on two bases: (1) His record during and since the war, and (2) the conviction that he not only will pursue the "patient but firm" policies of Byrnes but will carry on his predecessor's practice of working closely with Congress.

May Address Congress

This was reflected in a growing legislative demand for Marshall to address a joint Congressional session before he leaves for the March 10 meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council in Moscow and the task of seeking Big-Four agreements on Germany and Austria.

It raised, too, the likelihood that Marshall will seek to have Senators Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Connally, its ranking Democratic member, at his side for that meeting.

Both Vandenberg and Connally have indicated strong reluctance to abandon their legislative chores for future international conferences, but Marshall may prevail upon them to change their minds on the grounds that he will need their background.

It will be the problem of assimilating that background which may prove the most pressing for Marshall in the brief period between now and his scheduled huddle with diplomatic chiefs of Britain, France and Russia.

vig. Charles M. Krise, Joseph M. Cookson, and Francis J. Will (honorary). The election board consisted of George Hornberger, Lawrence Toller, and Bernard Dillman.

The fire chief, Jay D. Basehoar, announced that open house for the new members will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m., for the purpose of acquainting them with the equipment and apparatus. The drivers, pipe foremen, and chief nozzlemen are also asked to be present at this gathering.

Henry Waltman, general chairman of the carnival committee, reported that a ride and several concessions have already been booked for the annual summer affair which will be resumed this year. Other members appointed to the general committee were: Bernard Dillman, Wayne Arnold, and Jay D. Basehoar. E. J. Alt-off was named finance chairman.

To Aid Fire Victims

Chief Basehoar reported that he had contacted the Red Cross and the Woman's Community club concerning relief for victims of fires who are left in need. An attempt is being made to work out some permanent plan to aid such persons.

The president appointed an investigating committee to report on candidates for membership, as follows: Henry Storm, Bernard Dillman, and Richard Adams. The following were nominated for membership: Earl Yinsling, Lewis Fox, Bernard Shadle, Clair Redding and Roscoe Bowers.

The auditing committee reported a balance of $3,136.12 in the Relief Fund, and $2,685.57 in the General Fund. A large amount of each fund is invested in war bonds. This committee comprised P. Emory Weaver, Bernard Selby, and Monroe J. Stavelay.

Chief's Report

A Social committee for four months was appointed, as follows: Lawrence Toller, Edgar Wisotzky and W. E. Sites.

Fire Chief Basehoar gave his monthly report, which listed three fires with a loss of $600. His annual report listed a total of 23 calls, distributed as follows: Littlestown borough, 9 calls, loss of $6,450; outside the borough and within state, 11 calls, loss of $7,025; Maryland, 3 calls, loss of $4,075. Total estimated loss, $17,550.

The fire chief appointed as his assistants, Kenneth Sentz and G. R. Jacoby. Luther Hankey appointed Monroe Morelock as his assistant nozzlemaster. The reorganization of the Uniform Rank and Ladies' Auxiliary was discussed, and further action will be taken at the next meeting.

Plans were discussed for starting a benefit fund, from which death benefits would be paid upon the death of a member. The new by-laws, which were distributed, increase the annual dues from fifty cents a year to one dollar, and the fine for absenteeism from ten cents to twenty-five cents for all meetings missed over six during the year. This extra revenue is to be placed in the proposed Benefit Fund. The officers of the company were appointed a committee to make plans for the fund. This group decided that the fund could probably "battlefield photography—can always be found at Devil's Den or Little Round Top." Two other photographers advertised in "The Battlefield," W. H. Tipton, who purveyed photographs and lantern slides "of every point of interest on the field," along with albums and guide books, and J. I. Mumper, another "battlefield photographer."

Electric Railway Running

W. T. Ziegler's Eagle hotel was highly praised by the editor and its advertisement said it had all the modern conveniences, with rooms at $2 a day or "parlor chambers" from $3 to $4. Other hotels which advertised in "The Battlefield" were the Washington House, Carlisle street, opposite the Western Maryland depot and the Central hotel, J. O. McCavit, proprietor, Baltimore street. The Ziegler and Holtzworth street in the rear of the Eagle hotel, and it advertised "competent guides, good horses and comfortable vehicles."

The Gettysburg Electric Railway announced that "The best and cheapest way to see the battlefield" was by means of its cars. The round trip fare was ten cents, with guide service provided. O. S. Herzog was manager.

The "steam" railroads provided a lot more service in and out of Gettysburg in those days half a century ago than they do now, their timetables of 1896 reveal. The Pennsylvania railroad, Frederick division, advertised three trains daily to and from Hanover; the Western Maryland ran four trains between Gettysburg and Hanover, and the Reading railroad had three trains operating between Gettysburg and Carlisle and Harrisburg.

Gleaned from Pages

"The Battlefield" boasted of its local news coverage and its "news nuggets" from nearby places, including Carlisle, Chambersburg and York.

Among the gleanings from the news stories and advertisements are the following:

Lieberman's clothing store, Carlisle street, "men's summer suits, formerly $5.50, now $2.75; chevots, formerly $13, now $6.50;" William H. Tipton was seeking the Republican nomination for the legislature; Edward A. Weaver the Democratic nomination for district attorney; Robert H. Curren the Republican nomination for county treasurer and M. A. Garvin the Democratic nomination for assembly; Huber's drug store advertised "drugs, delicious soda water and photographic supplies;" a new observatory is being erected on the field, it is located in Ziegler's grove near the O'Brien house; and "While on his way home from Taneytown recently Mr. Harry J. Schriver's horse took alarm and ran off, wrecking the buggy. Fortunately Mr. Schriver escaped without injury."

"The Battlefield" sold for five cents.

Couple Is Honored At Kitchen Shower

The Misses Vera and Pauline Schoffstall held a kitchen shower Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Schoffstall, Gardeners.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson and daughter, Ellen Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Enmet and daughters, Edna, Shirley and Laura Bell, Mrs. Frank Wilson and children, Richard, Dallas, Junior and Lula, all of Aspers; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schoffstall and children, Raymond, Kenneth and Sarah Ann, York Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Miller and sons, Ralph, Maurice and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Schoffstall and children, Charles, Lois, Florence, Pauline and Vera, all of Gardeners.

The couple received many useful gifts. Refreshments were served and games played.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Schoffstall, who recently observed their 20th wedding anniversary, also received a number of gifts.

very favorably with American methods and the doctors turned out by the European medical schools are not as well trained as American-educated physicians," he added. "But while you younger doctors are the best trained in the world, do not believe you know everything. We are all still but children in medicine. Each day science produces some new knowledge and compared to what will be known in the future we today are but children."

Socialized Medicine

Socialistic concepts of medicine are spreading throughout the world, Doctor Stayer added, "and you young men had better plan a program that will appeal to the public if you wish to escape socialized medicine. While I am personally as much an advocate of free medicine as anyone, still the facts must be faced. The patients have more votes than the doctors."

The Russians are "just like you and me" as individuals, Dr. Stayer said. Citing his experiences with Russian medical officers in Berlin, Dr. Stayer said that, "they are quick and eager to learn and must be considered as individuals with some good and some bad. Like everyone else they dislike to lose 'face' but we can get along together very well."

Dr. C. Harold Johnson presided at the session.

DICKINSON NIPS BULLETS 48-43 IN LATE RALLY

In a see-saw game which saw the lead change hands time and again and the score deduced nine times the Gettysburg college cagers dropped their second game of the season here Wednesday evening to the Dickinson courtmen 48-43.

A pair of long shots by Johnny Hopper, Red Devil forward, spelled final to the Bullet hopes for victory in the last minutes of play. Coach Bream's outfit was leading 43-42 with four minutes of play remaining when Hopper dropped through two long shots from the side. He added another short chuck just before the final whistle sounded.

The game was a nip and tuck affair the whole way. Dickinson took a 14-10 lead at the end of the opening period. Two goals by Hart at the start of the second period tied it up and then the Red Devils managed to hold a small margin until the last minutes of the half. Bobby March, former Gettysburg high star, entered the game late in the period and his two one-handed stabs just before the half ended sent the Bullets out in front 24-23 at intermission.

Fast Finish

Again in the third period the lead changed hands several times and was deadlocked on other occasions. Alexander's one-hander gave Dickinson a 36-34 margin at the start of the final period.

Thrills were plenty in the final period. Goals by Pure and Hart, who led the attack during the evening for the Bullets, tied the count at 38-38 early in the frame and after Hopper sent his team ahead 41-38 Hart looped a goal and Pure a foul to again knot the count. Sachs put the Bullets in front 43-41 with a leaping one-hand toss with five minutes to go.

Dickinson came back on a free toss by May and a long toss by Hopper with but three minutes remaining. Hopper came through again with another long toss to sew up the decision and with but seconds remaining slipped through for a short toss to end the scoring.

On Saturday evening Lehigh will come here for a Middle Atlantic league game with the Bullets. Only one game is listed for Saturday.

Jayvees Impress

A very impressive Bullet Jayvee team laced the Dickinson reserves in the preliminary game 59-23.

Coach Bloomingdale's starting lineup included four ex-Gettysburg high cagers, George Gorman, George Fair, Dick Fidler and Reds Fissel, and all gave good accounts of themselves. Fifteen Bullet players took part in the lopsided affair and two more former Maroon dribblers saw action, Bud Boehner and Dick Heintzelman.

The Jayvees, after a slow start, rained goals through the hoop late in the first period and the outcome was never in doubt. Akers topped the scorers with six goals and a foul.

Hershey Wins 6-3 Over Philadelphia

(By The Associated Press) The Cleveland Barons still enjoy a comfortable first place margin in the western division standings of the American hockey league today but their position will be short lived if they continue to blow games as they have in their last two outings.

Leading the idle runner-up Indianapolis Capitals by seven points, the Barons last night missed an opportunity to increase their advantage by kicking away a 8-3 decision to the Springfield Indians. On Sunday night the Barons began the final period of play against Buffalo boasting a 3-1 advantage but the Bisons then exploded and tallied eight times to swamp the Barons, 9-3.

In the eastern division, the pace-setting Hershey Bears climbed 18 points ahead of New Haven by downing the Philadelphia Rockets, 6-3. Herb Cain, Gordie Bruce and Jack McGill paced the Bear offensive by scoring two goals apiece as the Rockets suffered their 30th setback in 37 games.

TOP HONOR FOR ARNOLD TUCKER

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Arnold Tucker, field general of Army's undefeated football team, today held amateur sport's greatest honor for 1946—the James E. Sullivan award.

Tucker, 22-year-old first classman from Miami, Fla., won the distinction by the closest vote ever recorded in the trophy's 17-year history.

He, with 597 points, nosed out Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame quarterback with 566 points, and swimmer Bill Smith of Honolulu with 546, to bring the coveted Sullivan award to West Point for the second consecutive year. The 1945 prize went to Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Army's line-cracking fullback.

In the previous polls, conducted by the Amateur Athletic Union, track had 10 winners, golf had two, and one each went to swimming, tennis, rowing and football.

Tucker's citation declared that during the past year "by performance, example and good influence did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship."

LAFAYETTE ON VICTORY TRAIL, BEAT COLUMBIA

Philadelphia, Jan. 9 (AP)—Undefeated Lafayette college maintained a steady course along victory trail in registering its fifth straight triumph this season to top basketball action involving 28 Keystone state schools last night.

Columbia University's Lions, invading the Easton home of the Maroon, were 52-43 victims of the Lafayette quintet which hasn't lost since January, 1946—and that was against Columbia. Since that defeat Lafayette has won 15 straight.

Three Philadelphia sharpshooters, headed by Forward Jack Milne, dumped in 41 of the Maroon's 52 points. Milne tallied 18; Martin Zippel, 14, and Jack Gordon 9.

Seven Undefeated
Pennsylvania's college lives split even in last night's games—14 winning, and a like number going down in defeat. Eighteen teams, however, were involved in purely intra-state competition.

Bloomsburg State Teachers upset Shippensburg Teachers, 47-42, and Ursinus opened its season with a 60-50 triumph over Drexel—knocking the two losers from the Keystone state unbeaten ranks.

Only seven teams now remain in the select circle—Duquesne tops the list with nine straight; next comes Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson with five; Bucknell (3), and Ursinus, Shippensburg Teachers and St. Francis of Loretto, all with one each.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Gambling on sports isn't a funny subject these days, but around the recent National Collegiate A. A. convention yesterday you probably could have gotten 6 to 5 and ten points that nothing will happen as a result of the anti-gambling resolution adopted by the college sports leaders.

Maybe you'd get a few laughs out of it too. After devoting a couple of hours to torrid debate, a round-table group came up with a resolution which said, as we see it: "We're against gambling; there ought to be a law; present laws ought to be enforced, and nobody who knows anything about a game—mainly coaches and newspapermen—should predict the winner or the score." The convention adopted it without taking any big steps that would prevent or discourage betting. And, come to think of it, maybe the folks who say you can't stop it are right.

Floyd Eastwood, Purdue's expert on football injuries, expects to spend about $15,000 in the next two years on a study of head injuries and helmets. One of his first requirements is a "dummy head" and don't say he could take it off the nearest guard. A. Buff Donnell, who recently accepted the Boston U. grid coaching job, insists he's not going to acquire a New England accent. "I'm more interested in getting a couple of tackles," he says. The Naval academy is planning to fill in a section of waterfront in order to build a big new field house. That should be a natural for a gag about the boxing team taking dives.

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS

The guys who sweated out the war at Camp Kearns, Utah, may be interested to know that somebody benefitted from that place. Andy Duncan, lanky forward from William and Mary college, and Glenn Duggins, Stroud, Okla., schoolboy star, who played on the Kearns basketball team held Salt Lake City so well they now call it home and are playing for the AAU league basketball team there. Yonkers, N. Y., is hearing of a plan to turn the unused Empire city racetrack into a memorial to war vets. How about a memorial to Empire's two-buck bettors?

Plan Homecoming For Cup Winners

Los Angeles, Jan. 9 (AP)—A gala homecoming celebration was on tap today for the famed Davis cup and the men primarily responsible for returning it to America—Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder.

Kramer and Schroeder, the Los Angeles buddies who led the United States tennis team to their shutout conquest of the Australians, were down as honor guests at a combined reception-parade-luncheon.

The silver cup, tennis' most-prized bauble, was to be unveiled at the city hall, and honor scrolls presented to the stellar players by Mayor Fletcher Bowron. The trophy had been outside the U. S. since 1939.

The cup, heavily crated and insured, arrived by plane yesterday, together with Kramer, Schroeder, nonplaying captain Walter Pate, Frank Parker and the latter's wife.

MAROONS NEXT MEET HERSHEY

The four-way tie for the leadership of the South Penn Interscholastic Basketball league will boil down to a two-way affair Friday evening with the unbeaten teams scheduled to clash.

Gettysburg and Hershey will meet on the Hershey floor while Chambersburg and Carlisle clash at Carlisle. All of the mentioned teams won their league openers and are deadlocked for first place.

Other games billed for Friday include Waynesboro at Hanover and Shippensburg at Mechanicsburg.

Coach George Forney and his Maroons are hopeful of upsetting the Hershey outfit. The locals have been improving each week and if that continues they are certain to cut an important figure in the loop race.

Hershey has a veteran outfit and has generally been picked to be one of the big threats to the three-champion Chambersburg outfit.

TOUGH WEEKEND UP FOR CHAMPS

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (AP)—Allentown's state champions face one of the hardest week-ends of the entire season starting with tomorrow night's eastern conference fray with Easton.

Before Coach Crum's Canaries get an opportunity to rest they must play host to Williamsport on Saturday and then travel to Bethlehem on Tuesday.

These three games, coming in rapid succession, will serve as a real test for the title aspirations of the unbeaten canaries, who have rolled along for 52 consecutive victories in three years, longest winning streak in Pennsylvania scholastic history.

While Allentown is meeting Easton and Williamsport on successive nights, its strongest rivals for Eastern conference honors, the fast stepping Bethlehem Hurricanes will invade Hazleton for another Eastern conference test. Bethlehem was moving along with an eight-game streak Tuesday when its victory string was snapped by Allentown Catholic, 41-39.

The schedule makers pit two of the strongest teams in the central Penn conference against each other tomorrow night as Lancaster, last year's champion, and defending titleholder in district three, invades Reading for a conference contest. A victory for Reading will send the Berks county five off to a fast start in the race for this year's crown.

Vet Zivic Beaten By Young Fighter

Miami, Fla., Jan. 9 (AP)—Veteran Fritz Zivic, of Pittsburgh, went down to defeat last night when 18-year-old Clyde Gordon received a unanimous judges' decision after a listless nine rounds at Civic Center arena.

Zivic, credited with 304 battles, failed to show the fire he was billed as having. After several ineffectual forays, he covered up to let Gordon hammer him until the judges called a halt to the contest.

The nine-round go was a compromise. Gordon had asked for eight, and Zivic had asked for the full, scheduled 10 rounds.

Zivic weighed 146½, Gordon 143½.

Sen. Martin Has Asked For Pension

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—Senator Edward Martin (R-Pa.) says he has applied for a state pension.

The former governor, now 67, told a reporter yesterday he had made the application January 2 but had not yet been advised of the amount of pension he would receive.

"Under the set-up in the state I understand it will be the smallest monthly allowance paid," Martin said. "But, that is enough to take care of Mrs. Martin during her life time and that is what I was principally concerned about."

Hans And Gretel Do Dutch Dance

Hans and Gretel Brinker enjoy a traditional Dutch dance in "Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates," the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre play to be presented Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Majestic theatre under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club. Children's tickets at 35 cents and adults' at 60 cents may be bought through the schools or on Friday at the box office.

BRITAIN SENDS ART PUPILS IN MONTGOMERY TO PACIFY MOSCOW

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Britain's acrid little Field Marshal Montgomery, whose name is more synonymous with massed artillery than with the soothing word, is now revealed as Britain's newest envoy of pacification.

Word from Moscow has it that the marshal is there to convince the Russians that everything is on the up and up about the Anglo-American arms standardization deal, and that his trip is viewed as the most important mission to Moscow by a Britisher in some time.

His assignment would seem like a big order. The Russians have displayed considerable nervousness over the proposals. They ask themselves just who in the world besides Russia is so big that the British and Americans need to combine against them. They are looking at the other side of a picture which Americans see as a mere commonplace application of lessons learned since 1939, when American industry began making weapons to French and British specifications, and then had to shift to American types.

Bases In Canada

The Russians, too, are well aware of an angle of the standardization program which has to do with something besides the long-term possibility that British and American forces may have to fight again under unified command. The United States wants to build its own military bases in far northern Canada. The deal hasn't gone through because some Canadians see the project as a further binding of Canada to the U. S. and a corollary weakening of ties with England. Prime Minister Mackenzie King will be in a lot better position to convince his people if the whole thing becomes one big pool with Britain throwing in too.

From this side, those bases in Canada merely look like insurance taken out in the devout hope that there will be no fire.

From the Russian side they look as such bases would appear to Buffalo and Detroit if Britain were to start military construction in southern Canada.

Must Soothe Reds

Montgomery's job, apparently, is to tell the Russians not to get excited; that standardization is merely something that looks sensible from our standpoint in an unsettled world; that the door is open for Russian participation in any deal Britain makes with the U. S.; that it's just like Russia wanting to cement a defense ring in the weak countries which surround her.

The ordinary diplomatic smoothie, subject to the inherent Russian distrust of foreigners, probably wouldn't have a chance of putting the idea over. Montgomery will have to be satisfied with partial success, if any. But if there's anything to the legend that the Russians are far more likely to trust a "toughie," then the British have sent the right guy to make the try.

DR. SAUL DIES

Philadelphia, Jan. 9 (AP)—Dr. C. Dudley Saul, medical director of St. Luke's and Children's Medical center here since 1941, died yesterday. He was 66. Author of various monographs on medical, scientific and economic subjects, Dr. Saul interned at St. Mary's hospital at Passaic, N. J.

Motor vehicle deaths increased 18 per cent in the United States in 1945 over 1944.

PARIS FACES 10 YEARS IN PRISON IN 'BRIBE' CASE

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Smooth-talking Alvin J. Paris faced a possible prison term of 10 years and a fine of $20,000 today as the result of his conviction on charges of attempting to "rig" the December 15 professional football title game between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears.

His father, Sidney Paris, told newsmen shortly after his son's conviction by a general sessions court jury late yesterday that the verdict would be appealed. The jury of 10 men and two women deliberated only 65 minutes before returning the verdict.

Investigation Goes On

The police investigation apparently did not end with conviction of the dapper Paris, who was specifically charged with offering bribes to Merle Hapes and Frank Filchok, backfield players of the Giants, to "lay down" in the game.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Couple Married at Detour Home:

Miss Louise Wilhide, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wilhide, of near Detour, Maryland, became the bride of Russell W. Durborow, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Durborow, Gettysburg Route 2, Saturday afternoon (January 1) at 1 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by the Rev. Walter Waybright, a student at the Lutheran Theological Seminary here. More than 100 guests were present.

Mr. Durborow is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College and has been making his home with his parents.

Local Couple Wed Saturday: Miss Mabel Gulden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gulden, Harrisburg road, became the bride of Glenn L. Sterner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sterner, Hanover street, Saturday afternoon (January 1). The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the St. James Lutheran church by the Rev. Earl J. Bowman. Ivan Sterner and Miss Mabel Yingling were the only attendants.

Sells Mill Property: Jacob I. Heret, Chambersburg street, has sold his mill property in Highland township to Raymond Adams, of Cashtown. The transfer was made through C. A. Heiges, Buford avenue.

W. G. Weaver to Manage Store: The G. W. Weaver and Son department store, Center Square, will reopen for business on Monday with the third generation at the managerial helm.

Closed since the death of H. T. Weaver last Wednesday evening, the store will again function smoothly with William G. Weaver, assistant manager since 1922, at the reins as manager.

Tipton Plans to Rebuild Home: Robert E. Tipton, whose summer home "La Hacienda" at Marsh Creek Heights was destroyed in an early morning fire on Friday, said he plans to rebuild at the same place. Mr. Tipton's loss, above the insurance he carries on the place and contents, will be about $6,000, he said.

Many valuable souvenirs, collected by Mr. Tipton in his travels throughout the world, were destroyed.

Harris W. Kline New Mercantile Appraiser: Succeeding Roy E. Zinn, Harris W. Kline, near Sell's Station, on Wednesday took the oath of office as mercantile appraiser of Adams county. The oath was administered in Harrisburg in the presence of Auditor General Edward Martin, by whom the appointment was made.

Basket League Is Formed With Six Town Teams: The Gettysburg Basketball League was permanently formed for this season at a meeting of representatives interested at the Gettysburg Times office Monday evening.

Professor G. W. Lefever, who had been active in the preliminary organization work, was elected president, while Guyon E. Buehler was elected secretary-treasurer. C. C. "Junie" Bream was elected league referee. His brother, Donovan Bream, was elected official scorer. All games will be played on the Hotel Gettysburg floor, an offer of Henry M. Scharf for the use of the floor being accepted.

The executive board comprises Mike Miller, coach of the Legion team; Murray L. Miller, of the Majestic club; Richard Eisenhart, of the Fire Company; Earl Utz, of the Monarch Cigar Store; E. G. Finn or Earl Deatrick, of the Highway Department, and Mr. Leshar, of the Seminary.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Great Art—Free

I've seen them all over America, and upon the sea, but here in Florida they are habitual—these Sunsets. Sometimes they are breath-taking in their dramatic display, and at others, indescribable poems—soft and still, like dying music upon the air.

The greatest of writers and poets have tried, and stumbled, in their efforts to adequately describe some of these Sunsets, so that I can only talk about them, their soothing, silent songs of color, and vanishing tones. The builder of Miami Beach, Carl G. Fisher, built his first home here upon the shore of the Atlantic—then he later built the one he loved most upon the bay—in his words, "so that I could see the Sunsets."

I watch them from my penthouse sun porch these days—and each one is medicine to my soul. They color my heart, put a glow into it, and take many an ache out of my mind. That's what Sunsets do! They do much more, too. Their ever-varied beauty enters your blood stream, enriching it, and hiding memories away in secret places.

For an hour or so, when I see one of these Sunsets gathering, forming, and assembling, I lose myself in them. Every moment the gathering clouds move rhythmically and silently, as the lowering Sun spreads its warmth behind them, reflecting every color of the rainbow through their moist fragments, presenting to the eye their painted handiwork. God, the artist—that's all you say.

Sunsets spiritualize one. Their mystic splendor sustains one, somehow. The grays, the pale blues, the brilliant golds and purples, keep associating with one another, supplementing the movement of the whole, until finally the last stroke of art is over, and night is on. Then the Stars (or the Moon) have their inning, until daybreak whispers that another day is born—and life goes on.

How humble, and reverent, these manifestations of Nature should make us. What a poignant, arresting title it was, that Ann Lindbergh gave to her beautiful book—"Listen, the Wind!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Inheritance of Happiness."

Just Folks

BABY WELCOME
I saw them in the corridor.
Their eyes a-shine with joy,
Their hearts in celebration for
Another little boy.
But scarcely had they rushed away,
The heads of all a-whirl,
Before some others rushed to say:
"We have a little girl!"The faces, anxious long with care,
Were radiant with smiles.
On joyous feet they raced the bare
And white enameled aisles.
Some hastened to the telephone,
To spread the news afar,
And prove, what nurses long have known:
How welcome babies are.I think the Lord above must smile,
When looking down on earth,
To see us in that little while
Rejoicing over birth.
So glad a child has come to bless
Our lives and homes are we,
Perhaps for all our selfishness
Forgiven we may be.

STREAMLINING
BILL UP TODAY
IN LEGISLATURE

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Senate took up today the task of streamlining the General Assembly's personnel setup with the expressed aim of more efficient lawmaking.

House Bill No. One—A measure eliminating obsolete jobs and providing additional stenographic help for Legislative committees—moved into the upper branch after unanimous passage by the State House of Representatives at a brief midnight session.

Approved finally 36 hours and 10 minutes after the 137th session of the General Assembly convened at noon Tuesday, the measure was scheduled to come before the Senate at 4 p. m. and again at 12:01 a. m., Thursday, with final action planned after a 10-day recess. Action on three separate legislative days in each branch is required by the constitution.

House members, meanwhile, returned to their home putting off until January 20 the consideration of key problems, including the question of increased revenues to meet what Governor-elect James H. Duff has said will be a $96,000,000 deficit in the next biennium without any increase in state services.

The tax issue figured briefly in the House debate on the reorganization which adds $39,000 to a 1945 appropriation for the current session.

Rep. Ellwood J. Turner (R-Delaware) said he regretted the measure provided no technical assistance for the leadership of the House which he said would be "called on for increased revenues."

Noting the ways and means committee, which considers tax measures, "has no staff at all," Turner continued:

Praise and Criticism
"We have no way of appraising what the present tax laws will produce or what new laws will bring in. I'm amazed, at times, that we get as good results as we do."

On the other hand, Rep. Herbert P. Sorg, the Republican floor leader, described the measure as "a great step forward" and would eventually result in saving through the establishment of permanent key personnel who would be available to help organize new Legislatures in the future.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, the Democratic floor leader, criticized the plan, however, on the grounds it did not go far enough.

Andrews also sought an explanation for the delay in installing an electric roll call system in the House as directed in a 1945 law.

The capacity of the United States for the production of new aluminum is four times greater than the highest pre-war year.

Death Is Added To Life Term For Pair

Media, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Two men, already under sentence to serve up to 115 years in prison, have been doomed to death in the electric chair for the holdup slaying of a gas station attendant last July.

A Delaware county jury of 11 men and one woman found Charles Moyner, 24, Chester, Pa., and William Bryon, 39, Clifton Heights, Pa., guilty of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of Harvey Zerbe at nearby Folsom. The jury, failing to recommend mercy, doomed the men.

Previously, both men had been sentenced to 99 1/2 to 115 years on charges of assault and robbery.

WOULD OUTLAW
'CLOSED SHOP'

Dover, Del., Jan. 9 (AP)—Gov. Walter W. Bacon of Delaware has asked the new state legislature to pass legislation outlawing the "closed shop" in urging that the rights of both the employer and employee be protected.

Bacon told the first session of the legislature yesterday that "each and every citizen of this state should be free to obtain employment wherever he can without regard to whether he belongs to any particular labor organization."

At the same time, Bacon added, "I likewise maintain that he should not be subject to discharge merely because he must resign or be expelled from a particular labor union."

Bacon, a Republican serving his second term, said in his address that the Wagner Act was responsible for destroying the basis for free collective bargaining by governmental intervention.

"The greatest industrial strife our country has ever known has occurred since the passage of this act," he said.

Additionally, Bacon said he would recommend legislation outlawing strikes against the state or any of its political subdivisions.

NEW FIRST LADY
LIKES COOKING AND GARDENING

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (AP)—Mrs. James H. Duff, wife of the governor-elect of Pennsylvania, "never dreamed" her first venture away from home would last eight years.

"But I am enjoying every minute of my stay," confessed the gracious, pleasant-faced woman, who will soon become the first lady of Pennsylvania.

It was a cold, snowy January day in 1942 when Mrs. Duff packed her bags to leave her comfortable home at Carnegie, Pa., to journey with her husband to Harrisburg where he had just been appointed attorney general in Governor Martin's cabinet.

Now, four years later, Mrs. Duff will pack her bags again; not to head for home—but just down the street to the rambling brownstone executive mansion along the Susquehanna river.

"I expect it will seem rather odd at first to live in such a large place," she said, "after this," waving her hand at the small, but comfortable apartment which she has shared with her husband during the past four years.

When Mrs. Duff came to the Capital with her husband, she had to leave two of her favorite hobbies behind—her flowers and her dog. On the six-acre grounds of her Carnegie home, Mrs. Duff has a large flower garden, containing hundreds of varieties of gladioli—her favorite flowers.

black bomber," acts as unofficial caretaker at her home while she is away, she says laughingly.

Her other hobby—cooking—she has been able to pursue while at Harrisburg, much to her husband's delight. He declares that she "makes the best lemon pies in the world."

She is also an expert at manufacturing doughnuts and buckwheat cakes. She is afraid she won't be able to do much cooking when she becomes the keystone state's first lady, but adds, "at least I can show the cook how to make Jim's favorite dishes."

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, Norman Bennett, who passed away three years ago, January 9, 1944.

From this world of pain and sorrow, To the land of peace and rest, God has taken you, dear loved one, Where you have found eternal rest.

Our lips cannot tell how we miss you. Our hearts cannot tell what to say; God alone knows how we miss you. In our life that is lonelier today.

Mrs. Norman Bennett and Daughter.

GOP AT ODDS ON DEFENSE COSTS

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—Congressional Republicans are at odds among themselves today over national defense costs.

Rep. Taber, (NY) is demanding that Army-Navy outlays be cut drastically while Senator Taft (Ohio) is counseling against such a course.

Taber, who heads the new House appropriations committee, told a reporter he is convinced the military services can get along with $8,000,000,000 between them in the budget year beginning next July 1.

Furthermore, he said that if President Truman recommends a larger amount in the budget message to Congress tomorrow, steps will be taken to trim the proposed expenditures.

Taft, chairman of the Senate GOP steering committee, told a newsman he thinks Senate Republicans want to find budget reductions elsewhere and not make them at the expense of national defense.

Senator Bridges (R-NY), who heads the Senate appropriations committee, shares this overall view. He said, however, he thinks a number of army camps, now being maintained in this country with skeleton staffs, could be closed and some reductions made that way.

DANCE ON THE DESERT

Chapter 9

His mother was alone in the boarding house kitchen, paring dinner vegetables, when Bert returned, heavy-hearted, with the army doctor's verdict. If only he didn't have to tell her, could invent some plausible excuse for going away, and spare her worry. She'd had more than enough, surely, when he and his brothers were overseas.

"Hiya, Mrs. McLane," he said with forced cheerfulness. "What cooks? And I mean 'cooks.' It smells delicious!"

"A good report today, Son?" From her look of apprehension, Bert knew she guessed the truth.

"They found a little spot on my right lung, Mom," he said, off-handedly. "I'm going to the desert for six months."

His mother's face turned white as the peeled potatoes.

"Oh, Bert—how terrible!" He tilted her chin between his fingers, saw tears standing in her eyes. "Now, what's so terrible about a nice vacation in Palm Springs?"

"Palm Springs, dear? Won't that be very expensive?"

He smiled at her with confidence, as, suddenly, he had the solution. "Not if I take a job playing with some orchestra—night. The sun can do its 'spot-removing' during the day."

His joking didn't help. His mother wept softly. He put his arm around her, handed her a folded handkerchief. "Don't let it floor you like this, Mom. It's not serious—honestly. Not if I go right away. In six months I'll be just as good as new. You see! That's what deserts are for. Come on, Mom. You'll spoil your pretty makeup!"

Mrs. McLane wiped her eyes. "But you've just got nicely started with your band—and everything—"

The kitchen buzzer cut her short. On the threshold, smiling broadly, new straw hat in hand stood Tony Perrelli. "I ring the front doorbell, nobody come. Then I say, maybe in the kitchen will be somebody—so here I am." His buoyancy was infectious.

Mrs. McLane said, smiling. "It's good to see you, Tony. Come right in. You remember my son, Bert, don't you?"

Bert put out his hand. "How are you, Tony?"

"A pleasure to see you again, Mister Corporal." Tony unfolded a sheet of paper. "My famous salad dressing I promised you at the Marylanders' entertainment, Mrs. McLane."

"Oh, thank you so much! I'll give you my cookie recipe in exchange—for all those restaurant customers of yours."

"Please!" Tony raised his hand, restraining. "On my two weeks' vacation I do not even want to think about my cooking."

Mrs. McLane laughed. "I can understand that. Well, you and Bert go in the living room and chat, while I finish these vegetables."

Tony was admiring the cheerful yellow-and-blue kitchen. "If you please, I stay right here, in this little doll-house kitchen." He took an apron from a hook, picked up a knife. "I clean for you this little two-cents worth of spinach, like lightning," he teased.

There was no dissuading him. Bert excused himself, and went out to the studio. Eddy had gone out. Paul was at the office. Bert's little spaniel, Snap, rose from the couch, wagging his tail. Bert patted the silky head. "I'm going away again, Snap, old girl," he said gloomily. He caught his grave reflection in the mirror. "A spotted lung! What good am I to Eileen, now?"

It was the dinner gong that roused him. To his surprise he felt rested, hungry. He ate his dinner with a particular zest.

Mrs. Van Buren, their fussiest boarder, did too. "Don't know when I've enjoyed a meal so much," she declared. "Those new vitamins must be giving me an appetite."

Mrs. McLane smiled. "I think our guest, Mr. Perrelli, deserves all the credit. He cooked dinner for us tonight."

"Well!" Mrs. Van Buren beamed. "No wonder everything had such flavor!"

Tony grew positively rosy under the hail of praise from all the guests.

"He's going to cook for you for a whole week," Mrs. McLane announced brightly, "while I take a little vacation." There was a chorus of approval.

Bert shot his mother a questioning glance. Whatever was she up to now? After dinner he led them both aside. "What's all this about Tony? I thought he was having a vacation, didn't even want to think of cooking?"

Mrs. McLane said gently, "I told

Tony what the doctor said today, Bert. I'd really like to go down to Palm Springs with you, for the trip—a little change."

Tony's face was wreathed in smiles. "At the restaurant the customers he always kick, kick, kick. Nothing is no good. To be appreciated by all these most delightful people—why, it will be the beautiful vacation!"

And so it was arranged. Paul took Tony in the car to get his suitcase. Out in the studio, saying little, Eddy helped Bert pack. Words weren't necessary to convey Eddy's sympathy, his sense of loss.

"I'll explain to Captain Martyn about the band tomorrow," Eddy said quietly.

"You can carry on without me alright. The Veterans' Bureau can get you a good sax player. Carolina could do a good job leading, unless you think it'd be a novelty to have Paul conduct—with drumsticks."

"They can settle that between them," Eddy said.

After another silence, Bert said, "I'd rather Eileen didn't know anything about this, Eddy."

And, without looking up, Eddy replied, "Okay, Bertram. Mum's the word." He was called to the telephone in the house, then, and Bert dashed off the note to Eileen he had been formulating in his mind all evening.

"Please forget all about our talk on Sunday. I'm unstable as water, I guess. Don't know my own mind from one day to another. Am leaving for Palm Springs early in the morning, so haven't time to say goodbye. Best wishes, Bert."

GETS 50 TO 100 YEARS
Media, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Clifford P. Redden, 26-year-old "flash bandit" who admitted 38 robberies in Delaware county over a period of three months in 1945, has been sentenced to 50 to 100 years in Eastern Penitentiary. Judge Albert D. McDade, picking five of the 38 indictments at random, sentenced Redden yesterday to from 10 to 20 years imprisonment on each.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Couple Married at Detour Home:

Miss Louise Wilhide, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wilhide, of near Detour, Maryland, became the bride of Russell W. Durboraw, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Durboraw, Gettysburg Route 2, Saturday afternoon (January 1) at 1 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by the Rev. Walter Wright, a student at the Lutheran Theological Seminary here. More than 100 guests were present.

Mr. Durboraw is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College and has been making his home with his parents.

Local Couple Wed Saturday: Miss Mabel Gulden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gulden, Harrisburg road, became the bride of Glenn L. Sterner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sterner, Hanover street, Saturday afternoon (January 1). The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the St. James Lutheran church by the Rev. Earl J. Bowman, Ivan Sterner and Miss Mabel Yingling were the only attendants.

Sells Mill Property: Jacob I. Horer, Chambersburg street, has sold his mill property in Highland township to Raymond Adams, of Cashtown. The transfer was made through C. A. Heiges, Buford avenue.

W. G. Weaver to Manage Store: The G. W. Weaver and Son department store, Center Square, will reopen for business on Monday with the third generation at the managerial helm.

Closed since the death of H. T. Weaver last Wednesday evening, the store will again function smoothly with William G. Weaver, assistant manager since 1922, at the reins as manager.

Tipton Plans to Rebuild Home: Robert E. Tipton, whose summer home "La Hacienda" at Marsh Creek Heights was destroyed in an early morning fire on Friday, said he plans to rebuild at the same place. Mr. Tipton's loss, above the insurance he carries on the place and contents, will be about $6,000, he said.

Many valuable souvenirs, collected by Mr. Tipton in his travels throughout the world, were destroyed.

Harris W. Kline New Mercantile Appraiser: Succeeding Roy E. Zinn, Harris W. Kline, near Sell's Station, on Wednesday took the oath of office as mercantile appraiser of Adams county. The oath was administered in Harrisburg in the presence of Auditor General Edward Martin, by whom the appointment was made.

Basket League Is Formed With Six Town Teams: The Gettysburg Basketball League was permanently formed for this season at a meeting of representatives interested, at The Gettysburg Times office Monday evening.

Professor G. W. Lefever, who had been active in the preliminary organization work, was elected president, while Guyon E. Buehler was elected secretary-treasurer. C. C. "Junkie" Bream was elected league referee. His brother, Donovan Bream, was elected official scorer. All games will be played on the Hotel Gettysburg floor, an offer of Henry M. Scharf for the use of the floor being accepted.

The executive board comprises Mike Miller, coach of the Legion team; Murray L. Miller, of the Majestic club; Richard Elsenhart, of the Fire Company; Earl Utz, of the Monarch Cigar Store; E. G. Finn or Earl Deardrick, of the Highway Department, and Mr. Leshner, of the Seminary.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Great Art—Free

I've seen them all over America, and upon the sea, but here in Florida they are habitual—these Sunsets. Sometimes they are breath-taking in their dramatic display, and at others, indescribable poems—soft and still, like dying music upon the air.

The greatest of writers and poets have tried, and stumbled, in their efforts to adequately describe some of these Sunsets, so that I can only talk about them, their soothing, silent songs of color, and vanishing tones. The builder of Miami Beach, Carl G. Fisher, built his first home here upon the shore of the Atlantic—then he later built the one he loved most upon the bay—in his words, "so that I could see the Sunsets."

I watch them from my penthouse sun porch these days—and each one is a medicine to my soul. They color up my heart, put a glow into it, and take many an ache out of my mind. That's what Sunsets do! They do much more, too. Their ever-varied beauty enters your blood stream, enriching it, and hiding memories away in secret places.

For an hour or so, when I see one of these Sunsets gathering, forming, and assembling, I lose myself in them. Every moment the gathering clouds move rhythmically and silently, as the lowering Sun spreads its warmth behind them, reflecting every color of the rainbow through their moist fragments, presenting to the eye their painted handwork.

Sunsets spiritualize one. Their mystic splendor sustains one, somehow. The grays, the pale blues, the brilliant golds and purples, keep associating with one another, supplementing the movement of the whole, until finally the last stroke of art is over, and night is on. Then the Stars (or the Moon) have their inning, until daybreak whispers that another day is born—and life goes on.

How humble, and reverent, these manifestations of Nature should make us. What a poignant, arresting title it was, that Ann Lindbergh gave to her beautiful book—"Listen, the Wind!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Inheritance of Happiness."

Just Folks

BABY WELCOME
I saw them in the corridor,
Their eyes a-shine with joy,
Their hearts in celebration for
Another little boy.

But scarcely had they rushed away,
The heads of all a-whirl,
Before some others rushed to say:
"We have a little girl!"

The faces, anxious long with care,
Were radiant with smiles,
On joyous feet they raced the bare
And white enameled aisles.
Some hastened to the telephone,
To spread the news afar,
And prove, what nurses long have known:
How welcome babies are.

I think the Lord above must smile,
When looking down on earth,
To see us in that little while
Rejoicing over birth.
So glad a child has come to bless
Our lives and homes are we,
Perhaps for all our selfishness
Forgiven we may be.

STREAMLINING

BILL UP TODAY IN LEGISLATURE

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Senate took up today the task of streamlining the General Assembly's personnel setup with the expressed aim of more efficient lawmaking.

House Bill No. One—A measure eliminating obsolete jobs and providing additional stenographic help for legislative committees—moved into the upper branch after unanimous passage by the State House of Representatives at a brief midnight session.

Approved finally 36 hours and 10 minutes after the 137th session of the General Assembly convened at noon Tuesday, the measure was scheduled to come before the Senate at 4 p. m. and again at 12:01 a. m. Thursday, with final action planned after a 10-day recess. Action on three separate legislative days in each branch is required by the constitution.

House Suspend
House members, meanwhile, returned to their home putting off until January 20 the consideration of key problems, including the question of increased revenues to meet what Governor-elect James H. Duff has said will be a $96,000,000 deficit in the next biennium without any increase in state services.

The tax issue figured briefly in the House debate on the reorganization which adds $39,000 to a 1945 appropriation for the current session.

Rep. Ellwood J. Turner (R-Delaware) said he regretted the measure provided no technical assistants for the leadership of the House which he said would be "called on for increased revenues."

Noting the ways and means committee, which considers tax measures, "has no staff at all," Turner continued:

Praise and Criticism
"We have no way of appraising what the present tax laws will produce or what new laws will bring in. I'm amazed, at times, that we get as good results as we do."

On the other hand, Rep. Herbert P. Sorg, the Republican floor leader, described the measure as "a great step forward" and would eventually result in saving through the establishment of permanent key personnel who would be available to help organize new Legislatures in the future.

Rep. H. G. Andrews, the Democratic floor leader, criticized the plan, however, on the grounds it did not go far enough.

Andrews also sought an explanation for the delay in installing an electric roll call system in the House as directed in a 1945 law.

The capacity of the United States for the production of new aluminum is four times greater than the highest pre-war year.

Death Is Added To Life Term For Pair

Media, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Two men, already under sentence to serve up to 115 years in prison, have been doomed to death in the electric chair for the holdup slaying of a gas station attendant last July.

A Delaware county jury of 11 men and one woman found Charles Moyner, 24, Chester, Pa., and William Bryon, 39, Clifton Heights, Pa., guilty of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of Harvey Zerbe at nearby Polson. The jury, failing to recommend mercy, doomed the men.

Previously, both men had been sentenced to 99½ to 115 years on charges of assault and robbery.

WOULD OUTLAW 'CLOSED SHOP'

Dover, Del., Jan. 9 (AP)—Gov. Walter W. Bacon of Delaware has asked the new state legislature to pass legislation outlawing the "closed shop" in urging that the rights of both the employer and employee be protected.

Bacon told the first session of the legislature yesterday that "each and every citizen of this state should be free to obtain employment wherever he can without regard to whether he belongs to any particular labor organization."

"At the same time," Bacon added, "I likewise maintain that he should not be subject to discharge merely because he must resign or be expelled from a particular labor union."

Bacon, a Republican serving his second term, said in his address that the Wagner Act was responsible for destroying the basis for free collective bargaining by governmental intervention.

"The greatest industrial strife our country has ever known has occurred since the passage of this act," he said.

Additionally, Bacon said he would recommend legislation outlawing strikes against the state or any of its political subdivisions.

NEW FIRST LADY LIKES COOKING AND GARDENING

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (AP)—Mrs. James H. Duff, wife of the governor-elect of Pennsylvania, "never dreamed" her first venture away from home would last eight years.

"But I am enjoying every minute of my stay," confessed the gracious, pleasant-faced woman, who will soon become the first lady of Pennsylvania.

It was a cold, snowy January day in 1942 when Mrs. Duff packed her bags to leave her comfortable home at Carnegie, Pa., to journey with her husband to Harrisburg where he had just been appointed attorney general in Governor Martin's cabinet.

Now, four years later, Mrs. Duff will pack her bags again; not to head for home—but just down the street to the rambling brownstone executive mansion along the Susquehanna river.

"I expect it will seem rather odd at first to live in such a large place," she said, "after this," waving her hand at the small, but comfortable apartment which she has shared with her husband during the past four years.

When Mrs. Duff came to the Capital with her husband, she had to leave two of her favorite hobbies behind—her flowers and her dog. On the six-acre grounds of her Carnegie home, Mrs. Duff has a large flower garden, containing hundreds of varieties of gladioli—her favorite flowers.

black bomber," acts as unofficial caretaker at her home while she is away, she says laughingly.

Her other hobby—cooking—she has been able to pursue while at Harrisburg, much to her husband's delight. He declares that she "makes the best lemon pies in the world."

She is also an expert at manufacturing doughnuts and buckwheat cakes. She is afraid she won't be able to do much cooking when she becomes the keystone state's first lady, but adds, "at least I can show the cook how to make Jim's favorite dishes."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of the finest filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to set up nights. Frequent cramping, nervousness, irritability and sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's gives happy relief and still helps the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CHURCHMEN ASK END TO RACIAL DISCRIMINATION

Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Jan. 9 (P)—In a self-styled "revolutionary" report, a special committee of Protestant churchmen insisted today the Christian church must erase all racial segregation and discrimination if it wants to remain champion "of human rights."

The committee made its report at the annual meeting of the Home Missions Council of North America here, which represents 23 major Protestant denominations. The group is in the third day of a four-day session.

Calling the problem of group and race relations "one of the great social and ethical issues of our day," the committee last night declared six "imperative" steps must be taken to insure success of the home missions projects in the U. S. and Canada.

Six Considerations

These considerations were:

1. "The full influence of the church shall be exerted to secure the eradication of racial segregation and discrimination, whether imposed by law or by social custom, and to fight against whatever implies for any group a 'ghetto pattern' of living.
2. "All religions or other missionary enterprises now organized on a basis of segregation should be re-examined with a view to removing as rapidly as possible all barriers to free intercourse without reference to race.
3. "The church at large should be summoned to accept the principle of ministry to all peoples on the basis of community, irrespective of race or social status.
4. "Wherever possible, experiments in inter-racial activities and associations should be promoted.
5. "Special study should be devoted to the strengthening of the ministry of the church among any groups or types of population now inadequately reached.
6. "Home mission forces should join with other forces, both inside and outside the church, in positive measures to relieve tensions and to promote mutual understanding and goodwill among all races and groups."

Duff Delays His Cabinet Selections

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (P)—Governor-elect James H. Duff is expected to hold off announcement of cabinet appointments until he has made up his mind on all the key places to be filled in his administration.

The incoming governor so far has maintained strict silence on whom he has in mind for his own secretary and heads of departments with speculation about possible appointees at the lowest ebb in years in advance of Duff's own announcement.

If anyone has been asked so far to continue in office or to take any of the places Duff plans to fill with new faces, they have been able to keep the secret as well as the governor-elect.

Acquit Two Pennsy Workers In Strike

Philadelphia, Jan. 9 (P)—Two Pennsylvania railroad workers were acquitted by a federal judge of sabotage charges, filed against them by the government in connection with the 1946 nationwide rail strike.

The men—John A. Marko, 47, and Ralph C. Groom, 27—suspended by the PRR pending outcome of the trial, said they would seek immediate reemployment.

Federal District Judge James P. McGranery acquitted the men yesterday after a jury of seven women and five men failed to reach a verdict. The men were accused specifically of inserting the plates—pieces of iron ordinarily used to bolt rails together—in two switches. The government charged the plates could have wrecked any train which ran over them.

LEGION POST TO BURN MORTGAGE ON JANUARY 16

Plans to take part in the Mortgage Burning program of the Emmitsburg American Legion post to be held on January 16 were approved Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary of the post held at the post home in Emmitsburg.

Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner was named chairman of the committee from the Auxiliary which will prepare and serve refreshments for the event.

Reports on the Christmas program conducted by the Auxiliary and a letter of thanks to the unit from the President for its part in the Christmas program of the Legion Auxiliary were presented. During the Christmas season the Emmitsburg Auxiliary packed four boxes for the State Sanitarium valued at $16. The boxes included shaving kits, shampoo, cards, tooth brushes, tooth paste, mouth wash, combs, and writing paper. A $5 donation was made to the Perry Point hospital and $2 was given to the "Yanks Who Gave" program. Print baskets were presented to the two Gold Star mothers and a handbag was presented to the president, Mrs. Helen McNair.

Donations of $1 each were given for Christmas TB seals and to the Baltimore school of the blind. The Auxiliary was asked to join the Legion in writing to the local representatives urging passage of legislative bills to be presented for benefit of veterans.

Mrs. Margaret Brown, Americanism chairman, was named to take charge of party to be held February 22 when the Auxiliary will entertain the Girl Scouts. Five hundred poppies were ordered for the coming year and 11 applicants for membership in the Auxiliary were accepted, bringing the total membership to 47. The unit agreed to assist the Legion with the conduct of a card party to be held February 14.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS SUNDAY

The Sodality of St. Joseph's Catholic church held its monthly meeting Sunday evening after recitation of the office and benediction in the church at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by the pastor, Father Stauble. The secretary, Mrs. Harry Boyle, read the minutes of the December meeting and Mrs. Leonard Sanders gave the treasurer's report. The ex-president, Mrs. Thornton Rodgers, read a card received by her from the members of the Sodality thanking her for her splendid work during her four years as president and wishing her and her family a happy and prosperous New Year, after which Mrs. Rodgers thanked the Sodality for co-operating with her in making her four years successful. She especially thanked the Consultants and the Officers for their kindness and assistance.

Mrs. Rodgers then turned the meeting over to the newly installed president, Mrs. Herbert White. A business meeting followed and it was decided to hold a card and bingo party in St. Euphemia's school hall and basement on January 23 at 8 o'clock for the benefit of the church. The party is to be given by Bands No. 1 and No. 2, Mrs. Lawrence Orndorff and Miss Anne Codori being the respective consultants of the bands. It was also decided to hold monthly evenings of games at individual homes from eight until ten, admission being 25 cents and each person bringing a prize. The first evening of games will be held at the home of Mrs. Thornton Rodgers on Thursday evening, January 16. All are invited.

Week Of Prayer Being Observed

Universal Week of Prayer is being observed in Emmitsburg this week.

The series of services opened Sunday night in the Reformed church. Wednesday evening services were held at Elias Lutheran church and the service this evening will be in the Methodist church. The final service of the series on Sunday evening also will be in the Methodist church.

WIFE ARRAIGNED

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Habblett, 46, of nearby Chase's corner, was arraigned in a Nesbitt memorial hospital room yesterday and ordered committed to Luzerne county prison on a charge of murdering her husband, William, a week ago. She was taken to the hospital after the shooting suffering from shock.

VISITING MAIMED—Helen Keller, deaf and blind since she was a baby, and a nun visit war-maimed children in a home in Rome. Miss Keller is investigating needs of the blind in Europe preparatory to a U. S. fund-raising campaign.

Frederick County News

Robbers who broke into the LePage Motor company office at Frederick Sunday night, went to a lot of trouble for nothing. Deputy Sheriff R. Paul Buhman and George E. Crouse concluded after making their investigation. The robbers passed up new tires and merchandise in their hopes of obtaining cash from the safe. To insure their opening the safe they carted it away from the building. But, according to the deputy sheriffs, when the robbers opened the safe they found inside it—nothing.

Frederick county found driving exceedingly dangerous and walking equally hazardous on Monday morning. Emmitsburg's streets and highways were described as a "sheet of ice" and the road was icy through to Thurmont. Three inches of snow fell in the Sabillasville area and the entire section had a good taste of winter conditions.

It was a good year for the Frederick Fair, the Frederick County Agricultural Society reported at its annual meeting this past week. Treasurer Lewis R. Dertbaugh disclosed a profit of $15,600, with receipts totalling $66,582.22. The board of managers was reelected, with the group including John T. Best, Dr. Charles H. Conley, Sr., Mayor Lloyd C. Culler, Abraham Hemp, Albert N. McCordell, Lee Renneberger, John L. Shaw, Irving E. Staley, Emmmons C. Sanner, Frank N. Stauffer and Alvey D. Young. The group spent $8,000 during the year on permanent improvements to the fair grounds and repairs.

The 52-20 club was deplored by the Frederick AMVET chapter which held, at its annual meeting, that the GI Bill of Rights offering $20 per week for 52 weeks to veterans who cannot find jobs was "encouraging veterans not to take jobs". G. Horton Peace, well-named to be head of a veterans' organization, was selected as president for the coming year.

Death claimed a number of countians during the week. Leslie Ninlan Coblenz, former president of the Frederick County Board of Education died last Saturday. He was also well known as an attorney, Kiwanian, director of the Potomac Edison company, Mason, Grange member and director of the Children's Aid Society for Frederick county. Other deaths included Miss Elizabeth Ann Bramhall, 84, at Lovettsville on Thursday; Roy Clifton Saylor, 59, at Johnsville on Friday; Mrs. Rose Wolfe, 76, formerly of Frederick; Charles Edward Renner, 69, Brunswick, and Mrs. Georgia Barkard, New Windsor.

Weddings both past and present continued to hold interest. Mr. and Mrs. Lycurgus Wachter, Bloomfield R. 3, celebrated their 50th anniversary. Another couple to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary was Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Flock of Middletown. Three brides from Frederick joined their husbands in Japan. They were Mrs. Joseph A. Engelbrecht, Mrs. Gilbert V. Klos and Mrs. Edmond Scavone. The ship on which they traveled was the U.S.S. Hope. Married during the past week were Miss Regina Elizabeth Zecher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Zecher, near Burkittsville, and George David Arnold, son of David J. Arnold, Brunswick, at Burkittsville; Miss Lea June Rout-sahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Routzahn, near Middletown and Edgar Harland Nilson, of Brooklyn, at Middletown; Miss Alice Mae Keeney, Frederick, and James Lay-ton, Mt. Airy, at LeGore; Miss Ruth Moser, Middletown, and Thomas M. Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon, Sykesville, at Sykesville; S. Glen Rudy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rudy, Middletown, and Mrs. Anna Haines Ahalt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Haines, near Middletown, at Middletown.

There were some unusual items: The Baltimore and Ohio tried to interest the residents of Doubs and the Frederick county commissioners in accepting $15,000 to eliminate a grade crossing at Doubs by building a by-pass on the Point of Rocks road through Doubs. The Doubs delegate was uninterested in the money, said it wanted the grade crossing kept open.

There were other items of interest. The Frederick post office did $3,000 more business this past Christmas than ever before with the total in excess of $25,000. Enlistments were being secured in Company A, 115th infantry, Maryland National Guard at Frederick. Rev. Robert Sutton became pastor of Sherwood Parish church, Cockeysville. Frederick countians attended the State Farm Bureau Convention and 15th annual poultry

Lutherans Donate $150 To World Action

An announcement by Elias Lutheran church states that the special Christmas offering for Lutheran World Action amounted to $150. The Catechise class of that church meets each Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

On Sunday the regular Sunday school session will be held at 9:30 a. m. The church service will be at 10:30 a. m. and the Luther League will meet at 7 p. m. products show at Baltimore this week. . . a 77-year-old hobo, James Bratton, was found dead between the Western Maryland railroad rails Saturday evening in New Windsor after being struck by a train. . . Maryland politics could be described as middle of the lane and Frederick county politicians boosted John B. Funk for Maryland's secretary of state. Former State Senator Funk is a resident of Brunswick.

It was an interesting week in Frederick county but the most puzzled man during the week was Frederick Magistrate Edward J. Smith. When a hearing on an assault and battery charge came before him the victim of the attack stated he was too drunk to testify and insisted he had never sworn out a complaint.

SEE NO CHANGE IN U.S. POLICY WITH MARSHALL

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
When James F. Byrnes became Secretary of State 18 months ago there were those who feared that a mighty good pilot in domestic waters had been carried out of his depth. But Byrnes seemed to grow along with the complexities of his job until, by the time of the Paris Foreign Ministers conference last summer, he was able to take the lead in international maneuvering which had been held by the Russians and British.

Now, in the flush of major successes during the recent New York conferences, he resigns. Although known to be needing a rest, Byrnes had been expected by the public to carry on for a while longer. Only the presence of General Marshall to take over prevents considerable shock. That plus Byrnes' development of a firm, continuing and non-partisan foreign policy which should lose nothing through being administered by a man who has never had political connections.

Speculation and Outcries
It is a policy, too, whose success is its own best safeguard against change. The concessions which Russia has made across the conference table, her lessened pressure on the Danube, the Dardanelles, Iran and elsewhere, match too closely the pattern of U. S. counter-pressure to be mere coincidence.

There will be speculation and some outcries. The change, making General Marshall a part of the civilian administration and putting him next in line for the presidency should anything happen to Mr. Truman during the next two years, probably will reverberate in domestic politics. Foreign quarters will be alert to the possibilities of the "military mind" at the State Department. The next anti-American propaganda from abroad probably will link the "brass" on the foreign ministers council with American refusal to stop making atomic bombs, and "military diplomacy" will begin to share the spotlight with "dollar diplomacy" and "atomic diplomacy."

Marshall Is Fit
But the announcement that Byrnes is retiring because of his health is well documented. And his standing in the administration was attested only a short time ago when Truman ousted politically-powerful Henry Wallace from the cabinet to preserve the prestige of Byrnes and his policies in Europe.

Then, too, the fitness of Marshall for the job, regardless of brass, is generally acclaimed in this country. With Franklin D. Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, the general was one of the very few men intimately acquainted with every fact of America's foreign relations from 1939 on.

Lumber Dealer Must Show Cause

Pittsburgh, Jan. 9 (AP) — Federal Judge R. M. Gibson Tuesday issued a court order directing George Matson of Brookville, a lumber dealer, to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

The U. S. Attorney's office charged Matson was in contempt for failure to obey a court order of December 12 ordering him to pay all employees on his payroll since October 24, 1940, the difference between wages actually paid them and the minimum rate set by the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938.

EMPTY POCKETS
Chicago, (AP)—A bandit pressed a large pistol against William Solan, an automobile salesman, and started searching his pockets. He poked around 13 pockets in Solan's clothing—and didn't find any money. "If he had gone to the last pocket—my watch pocket—he would have found where I keep my money," Solan told police in reporting the holdup. "I had 10 pennies and a dime, to be exact."

WAA ITEMS LISTED

Philadelphia, Jan. 9 (AP)—The War Assets Administration, announcing sealed bid sales of $9,000,000 in surplus government property, listed industrial cutting tools, watch and clock parts, navy and marine cable, abrasives, oils and greases and generators and transformers as among the items for sale.

Claim Politics In Conviction Of Bruno

Harrisburg, Jan. 9 (AP)—Philip Bruno, convicted of murder in the 1934 Kelayres election eve slayings "was persecuted because he was the Republican leader in Kline township, Schuylkill county," the state pardons board said in recommending to former Governor Martin commutation of Bruno's life sentence.

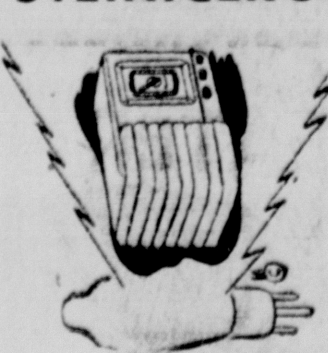

"This is the case which was written up in the nation's press as the 'Kelayres massacre.' Nothing could be further from the truth, except to say that five persons were killed," the board continued in a report made public today with its filing with the Legislature.

The reasons were given by the majority of the board to former Governor Martin in mid-December and the former executive commuted Bruno's sentence making him eligible for parole. They were filed with the Legislature by Governor John C. Bell, Jr., along with the reasons for all the commutations and pardons granted by Martin from January 2, 1945, to the present.

CONSOLIDATE AVIATION

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) would consolidate all civil aviation functions of the federal government under one department.

Walter, introducing a bill to this effect in Congress Tuesday, says his bill would establish a department of civil aviation headed by a secretary with cabinet status to replace the civil aeronautics authority, the civil aeronautics board, the civil aeronautics administration and the office of administrator of civil aeronautics.

BILBO TO GET SENATOR'S PAY DURING ABSENCE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—This question comes up How much salary is Theodore G. Bilbo, the unemployed senator, getting now?

Here's the answer, with a bit of background.

Bilbo was re-elected from Mississippi. But some of the other senators fought against letting him claim his seat.

They didn't like his dealings with war contractors or what he had said about negroes' voting.

He'll Get His Pay

The fight over seating him ended — at least for the time being — when this deal was worked out:

Instead of trying to claim his seat right now, he'd go down to New Orleans for a month operation.

Sometime later he could return to Washington, try to claim his seat, and start the fight all over again.

Until then he'll draw the regular pay of a senator.

This is what a senator gets from the government: $12,500 in yearly pay and $2,500 a year for expenses. Since every senator gets that $2,500 for expenses and doesn't have to account for it, that means every senator gets in pay $15,000 a year.

Mileage Too

In addition, each senator is allowed expenses at 20 cents a mile for one round-trip by train to and from Washington during a Congress session.

So, in addition to train fare, Bilbo will be paid at the rate of $15,000 a year.

But if he's away only two months and then comes back and is refused a seat. How much would he receive for those two months?

He'd collect only $2,500 — or one-sixth his yearly pay of $15,000. Suppose he doesn't come back to claim his seat but just stays down south. He's been re-elected for six years.

Up To Senate

Would he — if he stayed away one year, or two or the full six years — continue to draw full pay all that time? That would be one for the Senate to answer. But Bilbo has promised to come back fighting "if I live."

Bilbo's office is allowed $30,000. He doesn't get any of that money.

HENRY POPE DIES

Chicago, Jan. 9 (AP)—Henry Pope, 78, chairman of the board of Bear Brand Hosiery Co., president of Paramount Textile Machinery Co., and with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt founder of the Warm Springs Georgia Foundation for the treatment of infantile paralysis, died Tuesday night. He was born in Crestline, Ohio.

It has nothing to do with his $15,000 salary. The $30,000 is to pay the salaries of people working in his office. They get the money. He doesn't. If there are not enough people working in the office to draw the full $30,000, then the government keeps the money.

A Little Indefinite

The $30,000 can be paid out this way: Bilbo, like any other senator, is allowed an administrative assistant whose salary can be up to $8,000. (Bilbo's administrative assistant is John Lumpkin.) Then he's allowed a secretary with a salary up to $5,040. (Bilbo's secretary is J. O. Day.) The various stenographers and other assistants can be paid up to $5,000.

But how many people work in his office — besides Day and Lumpkin — could not be learned at Bilbo's office. There the answer was:

"We can't say now. The office is in a process of reorganization."

Noted Woman Pilot Found Dead In Bed

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Helen Richey, 37, first woman airmail pilot who set a women's refueling endurance record of 237 hours and 42 minutes in 1933 with her partner, the late Mrs. Frances Harrell Marsalis, was found dead in bed Tuesday night in her rooming house.

Police said the veteran aviatrix had been dead for several days. An autopsy will be performed.

Miss Richey set an international women's light plane record in 1936 when she covered 100 kilometers in 55 minutes. The same year, in which she was co-pilot with Amelia Earhart in the Bendix trophy race, Miss Richey laid claim to the women's world's altitude record for light planes.

In 1942 she became the first Pittsburgh district aviatrix to arrive on the European war front, and served in England as a member of the Aviation Transport Auxiliary, an American group which supplemented the British Women's Ferry Command.

Her home was at East McKeesport, Pa.

A giant power hoe has been developed which can dig 400 feet of three and a half foot trench per hour.

UN IS BUZZING OVER MARSHALL

Lake Success, N. Y., Jan. 9 (AP)—United Nations circles buzzed today with talk of Secretary of State Byrnes' resignation and its possible effect on U. S. foreign policy as the Security Council prepared to discuss the basic arms reduction program which Byrnes himself endorsed at the recent Assembly session.

Private speculation among the delegates was heightened by the fact that Byrnes' retirement followed closely on Bernard M. Baruch's resignation as American representative on the U. N. Atomic

Commission

What effect, if any, Byrnes' quitting might have on American policy in the United Nations was not immediately apparent. Warren P. Austin, chief U. S. delegate, was already in Washington for consultations at the time of the announcement, and his aides here awaited his return with a complete report.

There were no indications, however, that the American delegation would request postponement of the arms reduction discussion—which tops the Council's agenda tomorrow—in view of the sudden shift in Washington.

Meanwhile, the Council postponed action on the Council of Foreign Ministers plan to place the Adriatic port of Trieste under U. N. jurisdiction. The vote was delayed until Friday after Australia's Norman J.

O. Makin, new Council chairman, expressed doubt as to whether the 11-nation Council had authority under the charter to assume responsibility for the proposed free territory.

Iceland's elected assembly, known as the Althing, was established in the year 930.
